ON THE COVER: Pietro Calvi (Italian, 1833–1884). Othello, modeled ca. 1868; this version executed ca. 1873. White marble set with bronze, on a white marble socle, height 33 1/4 in. (84.5 cm). Museum purchase with funds provided through the bequest of Laura Delano Eastman by exchange, 2016, acc. no. 27.609.

From the Executive Director

The period covered by this annual report, July 2016 to June 2017, was filled with extraordinary moments in the life of the Walters Art Museum. As ever, the collection served as the launch pad for a rich year of temporary exhibitions, focused projects, and installations. We also made an exceptional acquisition by purchase, Pietro Calvi's Othello (ca. 1873), adding to our world-class collection of 19th-century sculpture, and continued to accept gifts of art that augment so many areas of the collection.

In this report, we also celebrate the generosity of many of you during the period covered. It is not only your philanthropic support that allows us to deepen and expand the connections between the art that we hold in trust for the varied communities we serve, but also the time and talent so many of you share with us. Our staff team of experts—from our conservators, curators, and educators to our facilities and fundraising teams—is joined daily with an incredible group of volunteers, who range from trustees to visitor services, volunteers to docents. Together, we aim to make the Walters a transformative force in Baltimore and the region. Thanks to you, all of us at the museum can continue to share the Walters' collections broadly and to create opportunities for each person who visits the museum—whether onsite or online—to make personal connections with the objects we steward together.

As a brief snapshot of the museum's activities in fiscal year 2017, this report captures only a glimpse into the collaborative work that we do to continue Henry Walter's vision to make the museum—its collections, its buildings, and its people—accessible “for the benefit of the public.” Thanks to all of you. This truly is YOUR museum!

Exhibitions & Installations

Waste Not: The Art of Medieval Recycling

June 25–September 18, 2016

Medieval artists were skilled at making use of older materials. This exhibition showcased more than 20 objects from the Walters' collection in gold, ivory, stone, glass, and parchment that show evidence of reuse, such as the melting down of Roman mosaic glass to include in Romanesque enamels. Stunning and important in their own right, these works revealed secrets recently discovered through exciting new research by our curators and conservators.

This exhibition was generously supported by members and contributors to the annual fund.

A Feast for the Senses: Art and Experience in Medieval Europe

October 16, 2016–January 8, 2017

The art of medieval Europe—luminous stained glass windows, church bells with their mesmerizing sounds, and tapestries depicting fragrant gardens—stirred the senses. This international loan exhibition brought together more than 100 paintings, tapestries, metalwork, manuscripts, and prints from museums in the United States and abroad, including masterpieces from the Walters' collection.

A Feast for the Senses: Art and Experience in Medieval Europe was organized by the Walters Art Museum, Baltimore, in partnership with the John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art, Sarasota, and was on view at the Ringling February 4 through April 20, 2017.

The exhibition received major funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities: Exploring the Human Endeavor; the Institute of Museum and Library Services; the National Endowment for the Arts; and anonymous donors, with additional support from the Gary Vikan Exhibition Fund, Nanci and Ned Feltham, and the Trust of Helen M. Hughes. The accompanying catalogue was made possible by an anonymous donor. Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Institute of Museum and Library Services, or the National Endowment for the Arts.

This exhibition was supported by an indemnity from the Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities.

Ferocious Beauty: Wrathful Deities from Tibet and Nepal

November 13, 2016–April 16, 2017

Striking works of Himalayan art depicted wrathful Buddhist deities with fearsome qualities. Although they appeared intimidating, these deities used their power to guard against antagonists and thwart obstacles to the spiritual goals of their devotees. Featuring nearly a dozen sculptures and paintings drawn primarily from the John and Berthe Ford Collection, this exhibition deepened our understanding of these compelling images.

This exhibition was generously supported by members and contributors to the annual fund.

Training the Eye: 19th-Century Drawing

May 14–August 13, 2017

Training the Eye explored the Walters' rich collection of works on paper through the lens of 19th-century artistic training and technique. Working in a range of media from watercolor to graphite to ink, artists honed their skills through intensive practice, seeking to become masters of their art. This intimate exhibition brought together 17 richly detailed and evocative portraits, still-life studies, and figure drawings—many of which were on view at the Walters for the very first time. In collaboration with faculty from Baltimore's Schuler School of Fine Arts, located in Station North, Training the Eye featured commentary on each work, examining how 19th-century techniques connect to 21st-century artistic practice.

This exhibition was generously supported by the Women's Committee of the Walters Art Museum.

Janet & Walter Sondheim Artscape Prize 2017 Finalists' Exhibition

June 17–August 13, 2017

The Walters and the Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts partnered to present the 2017 Sondheim Artscape Prize Finalists' Exhibition. The exhibition showcased the work of the seven artists competing for the Janet & Walters Sondheim Artscape Prize, a $25,000 fellowship which is awarded each year by an independent panel of jurors to a visual artist or visual artist collaborators living and working in the Greater Baltimore region.

Baltimore artist Cindy Cheng was announced the winner at an award ceremony and reception at the Walters on July 15. The jurors were Ruba Katrib, curator at SculptureCenter in Long Island City, New York; Clifford Owens, a New York-based contemporary artist who works in performance, photography, text, and video; and Nat Trotman, associate curator at the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.

The Janet & Walter Sondheim Artscape Prize is held in conjunction with Artscape, America's largest free arts festival, and is produced by the Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts. An exhibition of the semifinalists' work was shown in the Decker and Meyerhoff galleries at the Maryland Institute College of Art (MICA).

The 2017 Janet & Walter Sondheim Artscape Prize was made possible through the generous support of the Abell Foundation, Alex Brown & Sons Charitable Foundation, Charlesmead Foundation, Ellen Sondheim Dankert, France-Merrick Foundation, Hecht-Levi Foundation, Legg Mason, M&T Charitable Foundation, Amy & Chuck Newhall, Henry & Ruth Blaustein Rosenberg Foundation, M. Sigmund & Barbara Shapiro Philanthropic Fund, John Sondheim, and The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company.

The exhibition was generously supported by members and contributors to the annual fund.

From Rye to Raphael: The Walters Story

Ongoing

This installation brings together an extraordinary group of art and artifacts to illustrate the intriguing stories behind the Walters family's magnificent gift to the city. From Rye to Raphael features 200 works chosen for their beauty and craftsmanship, alongside Walters family photographs and historic material culled from the archives. After viewing the installation, visitors are invited to consider the impact of giving on our community today.

From Rye to Raphael: The Walters Story is generously supported by the Richard C. von Hess Foundation; the Women's Committee of the Walters Art Museum; The Selz Foundation; Cynthia Redmond Mead; PNC; the Walters Family; Kathleen and William Farley; and other anonymous donors.
